

CONSERVATION STORIES OF THE MOST EMBLEMATIC SPECIES OF MEXICO.

Synopsis

The monarch butterfly, the ajolote and the Mexican wolf are among the thirteen species this documentary series focuses on. This production depicts the commitment of several communities and researchers working towards preventing their extinction. Directed by Fabricio Feduchy, one of Mexico's most renowned nature documentary maker and a regular collaborator of Canal Once.

The Red Book - Threatened Species

Documental

Nature

Duration

13 x 24' Season 1

13 x 24' Season 2

13 x 30' Season 3

Producer

Canal Once

Availability

Worldwide

Video Link

<https://vimeo.com/showcase/5979853>

Password

ELR2019

